TACTICS BASED SCENARIO INSTRUCTOR
$695
24 HOURS

This course was designed to teach tactics concerning scenario-based training that will improve the overall training experience for any officer. This information can be implemented with an existing tactics program that will take the officer's capability to the next level. We go into detail not only about how to interact with the students but as well as how to design scenarios so they are functionally realistic. We focus on the safety points of teaching this type of training to reduce liability for the department and instructor. You don't need a horde of expensive equipment to be able to provide this type of training, but rather the right tools to build a positive training involvement for the officers in your agency.
