Solo Response Tactics for Law Enforcement

This course can be without live fire upon request. Your policy says first on scene to an active shooter incident goes in. This high speed solo response tactics course shows you how to respond effectively. This course stresses speed, surprise, and aggressive action. This course consists of force on force training and live fire exercises. Action always beats reaction; so what if you could always cause the action and force the bad guy to react? Understand how humans process information and use that to your advantage along with proper use of cover/concealment and tactics to completely overwhelm the bad guy and win. This course is only offered to active Law Enforcement, active military, and armed security. You will learn how to engage multiple deadly force threats by yourself. This course will exceed all your expectations.
