Contact us about hosting!!

As the popularity of the UAS drone industry grows, so does the threat of nefarious actors using them to carry out terroristic and criminal acts. This class discusses how drones are quickly becoming the go-to technology to execute combat missions, deliver contraband into secured facilities, and attack rival cartel members while threatening our critical infrastructure, borders, and public safety. This course equips participants with pertinent knowledge and tools necessary to address drone threats by identifying at-risk sectors and becoming familiar with detection and mitigation technology that allows users to combat Drone threats by tracking, assessing, and responding to ill-intended UAS activity. FAA Part 107 and equipment are not required to attend this 8-hour course.
