The rationale behind creating this 8-hour course was based upon the number of officers that are being arrested and causing a smear to our law enforcement society. Every time a law enforcement officer is arrested or accused of a crime; our society thinks that all law enforcement officers are the same way. This course discusses with officers some ways to combat those difficult circumstances. This course is designed to start at the beginning of the law enforcement officer's career and help them build a career with integrity and accountability. The course is designed to keep the officer out of trouble by showing them how to be a better officer. Videos are used as discussion points throughout the course.
